On 6 May 2020, the Department of Finance Canada (Finance Canada) announced that it will be waiving tariffs on certain medical goods, including personal protective equipment (PPE) such as masks and gloves.¹ As PPE imported into Canada may face tariffs as high as 18% ad valorem, the waiving of tariffs will significantly reduce the cost of importing PPE into Canada. Furthermore, Finance Canada has stated that tariff relief on these goods will remain in place for as long as necessary to deal with the COVID-19 crisis.²

Requirements for remission of customs duties

Remission of customs duties for qualifying imports is granted under the Certain Goods Remission Order (COVID-19) (the Order).³ To qualify for remission, the following conditions must be met:⁴

- ▶ The good was imported into Canada on or after 5 May 2020 and subject to customs duties.
- ▶ No other claim for relief of the customs duties has been granted under the Customs Tariff in respect of the good.
- ▶ The importer files, on request, the evidence or information that the Canada Border Services Agency (CBSA) requires to determine eligibility for remission.

- ▶ The importer agrees that it is subject, at any time, including after remission relief is provided, to review by the CBSA for the purpose of determining whether the information supplied by the importer is accurate and complete and whether the facts on which the CBSA relied or intends to rely to determine the eligibility for remission remain unchanged in all material respects.
- ▶ At the time when the CBSA conducts a review, the CBSA must be able to conclude that the information supplied remains accurate and complete and that the facts remain unchanged in all material respects.

All claims for relief of customs duties under the Order for these goods must also include all relevant documents (e.g., a copy of the original Form B3-3, bill of lading, sales invoice, waybill, sales contract, etc.) that demonstrate that the imported good matches the list of goods in Appendix A of Customs Notice 20-19, and that the good was imported into Canada on or after 5 May 2020 and is subject to customs duties.

Customs Notice 20-19 also provides a listing of tariff items under which PPE goods may currently be imported duty free under Most-Favored Nation (MFN) tariff treatment.⁵ However, the terms of these tariff items may require that certain end-use provisions be met for the goods to be appropriately classified as a duty-free tariff item under MFN tariff treatment.

To obtain relief of customs duties at the time of import, special authorization code 20-304 must be entered in Field 26 - Special Authority of Form B3-3. To obtain a refund of customs duties previously paid on qualifying goods imported on 5 May 2020 or later, importers must submit a refund request to the CBSA through Form B2, Canada Customs - Adjustment Request.

Importers also have the option to submit a Blanket B2 request for a refund of customs duties for 25 transactions or more in a calendar year. This option avoids the administrative burden of submitting individual Form B2 refund requests for multiple import transactions. However, importers must first submit a Blanket B2 Authorization Application request to the CBSA and obtain permission from the CBSA to submit Blanket B2 adjustments. There may be a significant delay in receiving authorization from the CBSA; therefore, importers with qualifying goods should prepare and apply for authorization as soon as possible.
