Growing government demands accelerate the need for tax transformation and integrated controversy management

Findings from the 2024 EY TFO survey illustrate the growing pressure on companies' tax and finance functions. These functions must keep up with the data and technology needed to comply with ever-increasing government demands.

Tax authorities are embracing digital transformation at a rapid pace, requiring real-time filings and moving toward public disclosure of information about companies' tax and finance affairs. Add the global tax reforms developed by the Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development (OECD)/G20 Inclusive Framework to the list, and it's easy to see how these pressures are driving an increase in both tax controversy matters and companies' resource needs.
